LONDON, May 31.—Great Britain virtually abandoned hope of holding Crete today and turned its attention to other battle areas in the middle east.

Commenting on the Crete situation, authoritative British quarters issued this statement: "Regardless of the outcome of the battle of Crete, the British have justified themselves."

These same circles added that while the terrific hand-to-hand battle on the Mediterranean island is going in favor of the Germans, it has proved extremely costly for them in highly trained men.

Prevented Iraq Aid
Furthermore, the British contended, Crete battle prevented the Germans from fanning the now collapsed Iraq "rebellion" into a major anti-British Arab uprising.

Authoritative London quarters pointed to the "enormous destruction" of German highly trained personnel in the Crete battle as well as their heavy losses in specialized materials such as troop transport planes and gliders. They declared the Crete fight kept a full German division occupied while other potentially dangerous situations were cleaned up.

No definite new information from Crete has reached London today but

Armistice Request Is Made By Iraqi

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff

LONDON, May 31.—An Iraqi request for an armistice with Britain was announced in London today.

(A Cairo dispatch said British forces were entering Baghdad, the Iraqi capital.)

(The report said the British forces reached Baghdad last night and immediately penetrated the suburbs.)

The request was made as British forces hammered at the gates of Baghdad, Iraq's fabulous capital, after battling a month-long "revolt" of troops led by the pro-Nazi Iraqi premier, Rashid Ali.

The Iraqi anti-British uprising—of momentous importance to the war because of Iraq's vast oil supplies—finally broke after Rashid Ali himself fled from his capital to neighboring Iran.

Information reaching London revealed that the German and Italian minister to Baghdad fled to Iran with Rashid Ali and members of his government.

The armistice appeal seemingly paved the way for a completely British-dictated settlement of the Iraqi question and removed the Axis-inspired threat against the rich Mosul oil fields and the strategic oil pipeline leading to the British base at Haifa, Palestine.

Escape

Mrs. Hilda Carlson, of rear 627 East Washington street, narrowly escaped being trapped in her burning apartment over a garage, at 4:09 o'clock Friday morning, in a peculiar blaze, which caused damage estimated by firemen at around $1,000 to the building and contents.

Firemen were told that a cigarette had been dropped on a cushion of a davenport, earlier in the night and that several glasses of water had been poured on the smoldering cushion. It was believed that the fire had been extinguished and the cushion was placed out on the porch.

Later, it burst into flame and ignited the porch, spreading to the house. The fire was blazing briskly when discovered by a milkman on his early morning rounds, who aroused Mrs. Carlson. She was able to escape from the blazing structure with difficulty. A pet dog was overcome by smoke and was rescued by neighbors.

A valuable automobile owned by Dr. G. E. Seal, which was kept underneath, was pushed from the garage by neighbors and was undamaged.

Naval Observers Give Description Of Sinking Of Hood And Bismarck

By ROBERT ELTINGHAM

A BRITISH PORT, May 31.—The German Battleship Bismarck, sent to the bottom of the Atlantic by nine aerial torpedoes and tons of shellfire, was described today by British naval observers returning from the historic battle as "the biggest and most powerful warship the world has ever known."

They agreed the huge ship which sank the Hood may have displaced about 50,000 tons and that she may have carried a crew of as many as 3,000.

Bringing back comprehensive eyewitness reports from the three-day battle, these observers described the sinking of the 42,100-ton British Battle Cruiser Hood as "an unbelievable nightmare."

R. J. N. Nixon, Reuters correspondent with the fleet, told this story of the sinking of the Hood:

Hood Blew Up
"It was an unbelievable nightmare. The Hood blew up, throwing parts of her shattered body hundreds of feet into the air and leaving only a patch of smoke and bits of wreckage in the water."

"The Hood had opened fire on the Bismarck. The huge warships raced along diverging courses at the rate of about 60 miles an hour. Then towering fountains of water shot

In a broadcast picked up in New York by CBS, the British radio stated:

U. S. Military Observers In Middle East

(International News Service)
CAIRO, May 31.—There is a considerable number of American military observers in the middle east today.

The United States Army, Navy Marines and air force are represented with experts on tanks, submarines and other specialized branches of the services.

These observers are ranging over the entire length of the various fronts from Gibraltar at the western entrance of the Mediterranean to the Iraqi port of Basra.

In view of the present gravity and importance of the situation in the middle east the American correspondents organized an informal meeting with a group of these experts, plus several veteran foreign service observers and oil men who have been in the middle east a long time.

The purpose was a frank exchange of information to enable us to get the clearest possible picture of the whole middle east position for presentation to the American public taking care, of course, not to divulge specific military information.

BERLIN, May 31.—Their campaign all but completed, German and Italian forces swept through new areas in Crete today, mopping up the last remnants of British Imperial resistance with the aid of unrelenting dive-bombing attacks.

One column, the German supreme command announced, pursued a British force to the east and established contact with Nazi paratroopers holding Candia (Heraklion). Union with Italian troops advancing from the eastern end of Crete was expected today.

Seek To Prevent Escape
Striving to prevent a British escape such as occurred at Dunkirk just one year ago, the German Luftwaffe continued to attack troops and shipping, and the supreme command said one destroyer was so badly damaged it must be considered a loss.

British formations which fled to the small island of Gavdos, 40 miles south of Sphakia, were attacked by the air force and one signal station was reported destroyed.

"Especially effective air attacks," the supreme command said, "were directed against the ports on the southern coast from which the remnants of the British troops are trying to flee."

More Captured
Fifteen hundred more Greek and British soldiers have been captured. South of Rethymno a single body

East Side Market Gutted By Blaze

Fire Early Friday Morning
Causes Severe Damage To Arlington Avenue Store

Fire, which is believed to have started from a small gasoline stove in the rear of the G. P. Craig market at 856 Arlington avenue, at 1:20 o'clock Friday morning, caused a loss of around $1,500, partly covered by insurance.

The blaze had gained considerable headway when discovered, and virtually destroyed the interior of the structure, and its contents. The other side of the building was occupied by Wyman's Ice Cream bar and considerable damage was done by smoke and water to the contents of the Wyman store.

An alarm from Box 43 summoned two fire companies to the scene, firemen having the fire under control in a short time, but the blaze burned fiercely until checked.

So some played golf on the holiday and some went to see a game, but others fished, quite a few in fact, and more had some of the same and all day long in the warm spring sun, they angled for bullheads and chubs, while their friends were out where the grass is green, they're known as the golfing dubs. But me I loafed in the deep deep woods, where traffic was never heard and never a sound to break the spell, save the twitter of busy birds. None I got no fish, and I shot no golf, and I saw no ball teams play, but I'll bet I had just as much real sport, it's sixty seven today.

Special Police Patrol Philadelphia Area

Sabotage Plot Reports Heard

Wide-Spread Sabotage Attempts Over Memorial Week-End Rumored

DEFENSE PLANTS BEING GUARDED

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Special details patrolled Philadelphia's entire waterfront and vigilance at the metropolitan area's vital defense plants was increased today in the wake of reports of a nation-wide sabotage plot aimed at defense activities.

Two patrol boats, with orders to watch for sabotage on vessels, cruised up and down the Delaware river, and officers were assigned to docks and warehouses. Two-way radio cars patrolled constantly from Frankford arsenal on the north to the navy yard on the south. Additionally, special details took up duty at both ends of the Delaware river bridge, huge spans leading to industrial Camden, N. J., and the Camden waterfront also was under surveillance.

Reports of Effort
The reports of a wide-spread sabotage effort said Memorial Day week-end was chosen because the holiday would result in many plants being undermanned. Philadelphia police officials, acting in concert with police in other cities, said merely "the situation speaks for itself."

Company guard forces were maintained at full strength over the week-end at Baldwin Locomotive Works, Eddystone; New York Shipbuilding Co., Camden; Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, and Sun Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., Chester. The Sun Oil Co. and Pure Oil Co. strengthened guard forces at Marcus Hook where 500 feet of pitch-covered ground burned in an apparently accidental fire at the Sun Company yesterday.

In line with the anti-sabotage activities, it was disclosed that 23 civilian workers at the Philadelphia navy yard were dismissed for Nazi or Communist affiliations. Sixteen were reported employed in the naval aircraft factory.

APPARENTLY UNINJURED

Ed. Bartley, 1812 Pennsylvania avenue, reported to police yesterday a boy ran into the side of his auto in Long avenue, was knocked down, got up and ran away without revealing his identity. Apparently he was unhurt, Bartley reported.

GREAT BRITAIN ABANDONS HOPE OF HOLDING CRETE

It was stated by reliable sources that after Crete is conquered by the Nazis it will be handed over to Premier Mussolini, who plans to change its name to Candia and establish naval and air bases on the island for German use.

Watch Eastern Mediterranean
With the battle of Crete coming to a close, British attention focussed especially on the eastern Mediterranean island of Cyprus as the next possible scene of warfare and on the entire middle east in general.

According to one diplomatic source in London Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop will soon visit Turkey to bring about strong "neutral cooperation" by the Ankara government against British efforts. At the same time German and French authorities are reported hard at work squashing anti-Vichy sentiments in French-occupied Syria. To aid this campaign, the Germans are offering the Syrian tribesmen "protected independence."

Meanwhile, Britain is preparing to take strong action against the Germans in Syria.

Some Evacuated
Cairo, May 31.—Evacuation of at least some of the British forces from Crete was revealed today when British soldiers and airmen returned to Egypt from the embattled Mediterranean island.

But for the most part, it appeared, the heavily outnumbered Anglo-Greek defenders were engaged in a last ditch fight against the ever-increasing Nazi invaders.

Broken communications prevented an accurate estimate of the exact military situation, but all indications were that the battle for possession of the island was nearing its end amid terrific hand-to-hand fighting, while Nazi planes poured bombs on the retreating defenders.

AXIS CAMPAIGN IN CRETE NEARING END SAYS BERLIN

Of 1,000 British Imperial troops was encircled and surrendered after a short fight.

With the Italians and Germans squeezing the British into the narrowest possible territory, German authorities said completion of the drive is a matter for the week-end.

German authorities reiterated that the resistance of the defenders has broken down throughout the island that the chief task remaining for the Axis powers in Crete is principally a mopping up operation.

Stuka dive-bombers yesterday were declared to have inflicted heavy losses on the British and Greek forces in attacks on troop concentrations in the middle area of Crete and along the south coast.

Important objectives at Sphakia and Lutrjo were bombed, the high command said, along with camps along the road between Nefsamari and Rethymon, which were destroyed.

German planes also were said to have bombed the Tyrnakion air-drome, shooting down one British Hurricane fighter.

up, first 100 then 50 yards behind the Hood.

Suddenly the Hood was hit by a shell or shells that fell ahead of one of her anti-aircraft turrets and crashed into her main munitions magazine. Fire broke out immediately and a thick black smoke billowed up from the battle cruiser. But the Hood continued moving forward and firing.

"Then I saw a straggling, sickening sight. With a terrific explosion the whole vast ship was enveloped in a flash of flames. The heavy smoke took on the shape of a giant mushroom. Sections of the Hood's big funnels, her masts and other parts of the ship hurtled into the air like rockets.

Down In Three Minutes
"The Hood's bow tilted vertically a moment after her fatal convulsion. Three minutes later all that remained of the ship, aside from little bits of wreckage, was a flicker of flame and smoke on the surface of the water.

"A British destroyer picked up three members of the Hood's complement. They were all that survived out of an estimated personnel of 1,300 to 1,400.

Nixon returned from the thousand-mile-long battle line aboard a British naval vessel which also brought back some 100 survivors of the German Battleship Bismarck, and vivid stories of her sinking.

The Bismarck, already crippled by aerial torpedoes when units of the fleet finally came upon her, also went down fighting. One British officer gave this description of her last moments:

"My first view of the Bismarck gave me the impression that she was hardly under control, but she made no bones about it. She went straight toward her attackers.

"To the last her officers and crew apparently believed that the big ship could not be sunk.

"A short time before our ships closed in and made the kill the Bismarck radioed Luftwaffe headquarters to send out 200 dive-bombers to help her 'defeat' the British fleet."

MEMORIAL DAY COMMEMORATED WITH PROGRAM

War veterans present, the last of these old heroes residing in Lawrence county having passed on during the year. The local national guard unit was also missed, the members having always occupied the place of honor at the head of the parade, but the boys are away at training camp this year, preparing to defend their country for any emergency which might arise.

Rev. Laing in his address reminded his hearers that this great nation was founded on sacrifice and suffering, and that its soldiery today is faced with the same problem that the men of 1917 faced, that of trying to save democracy from extinction.

He said that he was not as much concerned about any nation overcoming the United States by military might as he was of their undimining it from within, and already, he stated, he sensed the propaganda of its enemies being mouthed by some of its respected citizens.

Faith In God
He recalled the fact that its great military leaders of the past placed their faith in God and called upon him in the darkest hours of our country with prayer. A return to this faith in God is needed at the present time, he stated.

Rev. Laing stated that he was certain that all those who had laid down their lives for their country in the past would do the same thing over again, if the same situation confronted them, and that all those who love democracy should be prepared to make this same sacrifice in this present emergency. He scorned those seeking to avoid service by the cloak of religious scruples stating that he would be willing to cast aside his cloak and take up arms to defend his country, and again place his life upon that altar, remembering the sacrifice of those who laid down their lives for us.

C. Ed. Brown, general chairman of the Memorial Day committee, presided, and called upon Orville Potter, who has been secretary of the Memorial Day committee for a great number of years, to introduce the speaker.

The invocation was given by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church. Robert Calvin, senior high school student, gave an able rendition of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Music was furnished by the high school chorus and American Legion Cadet Band.

The Legion cadets led the parade and music for the march was also furnished by the Croton School band, in their snappy uniforms of red and white.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MAKE ARITHMETIC PLEASANT

A mother writes of her problems: "Some while ago you referred to 'Making Arithmetic Easy,' or 'Simplifying Arithmetic' which from your own observation and experience you had worked out. From what I gleaned it was just what we all needed. We are especially eager to have it during the summer vacation."

"Arithmetic was a nightmare for my eldest girl. Somehow she got through the early grades without mastering the fundamentals of arithmetic."

"I really believe the 'Devil Speed' is partly responsible. Give our youngsters time and an atmosphere of calm and they are very efficient. Rush them and they are almost helpless. The speed system is so cruel. I've watched the speed system ruin the nerves of my four children."

Learning Basic Principles

"Will you send me all the information I should have to help my youngsters in arithmetic. I'll be so grateful, and know the youngsters will. Please be sure to include the pages of simple addition and subtraction facts and information on where I may secure any self-teaching materials you have written for children. I enclose a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it."

All these materials were gladly sent to the writer. Also I wrote suggesting that, in choosing from the self-help described, that each child be given the booklet or material one or two grades below where he is. Most of all, each should learn by heart the 100 simple addition facts and the 100 simple subtraction facts, attacking only five or six of them at a sitting. Failure to learn these simple basic number facts is far more often the source of arithmetic trouble in the upper grades and high school, than any other cause.

Things Made Too Difficult

The trouble with most parents and teachers is that they nearly always are looking for something complex and difficult. When one tries to induce them to deal with very simple, easy, basic matters they suppose it amounts to nothing. All too much of our teaching at home or at school consists of making things difficult for children to learn. Yet some people like these suggestions because they think them too simple. A certain woman once said she did not like the sermon of a famous preacher whom she had travelled far to hear, because she could understand everything he said. The same fallacious reasoning is sometimes applied to teaching.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. A mother of two boys, eight and eleven, wishes to know how to overcome being so upset when I hear my children read. She courteously enclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A. The only way I know is by eternal self-discipline, made easier as we put ourselves in our imagination in the child's place; walk away from the child the moment you find your voice rising or feel the least disturbance at the pit of the stomach. I sent her my Home Helps in Reading.

The World and the Mud Puddles

STRANGE BUT TRUE

When Lady Luck's giddy wheel flings a fortune into the hands of a sweepstakes winner, she generally brews riotous revelry. And like as not, having lifted the lucky one from rags to riches, she leaves him clad in his rags when his spending jam-bone has whirled to his dizzy end.

But to Dame Fortune's easy come, easy go principle, there are exceptions. Like Benjamin and Pearl Mason, a Negro couple of Philadelphia. In 1939 they won on relief when along came a smiling Lady Luck one day and handed them a $150,000 sweepstakes prize. They purchased a small home, bought a medium-sized car, and paid back the government the $3,000 they had received while on relief. After their expenses and settling with Uncle Sam's tax collectors, Mr. and Mrs. Mason had a considerable sum left. They decided to use it to help their neighbors and to the benefit of their own community. They put the rest of the $150,000 into a slum clearance and low-cost housing project, accommodating 50 families.

Just the other day the first of the apartments in the project went into service. The housing court and apartments are air-conditioned, equipped with all modern accessories, and can boast playgrounds, a chapel, a social hall and bowling alleys. As a sound business venture, this undertaking won the support of the R. F. C. which helped back this, the first privately sponsored housing project in the nation.

Easy come, easy go? Not always. Here is one cool-headed couple who took $150,000 and put it to work, making life better for themselves, their neighbors and their city. They made Dame Fortune keep paying out!

Be such a man, and live such a life, that if every man were such as you, and every life a life like yours, this earth would be God's Paradise.—Phillips Brooks.

The teacher directed the class to write a brief account of a baseball game. All the pupils were busy during the allotted time except one little boy, who sat motionless, and wrote never a word. The teacher gave him an additional five minutes, calling them off one by one. The fifth minute had almost elapsed when the youngster awoke to life and scrawled a sentence. It ran thus:

Economics Is Puzzling Science To Most
Uncle Sam Wants Taxes To Control Buying
Tax Problem Is Entirely An Economic One

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Regarded as a puzzle rather than as a science, economics isn't such a dull subject. Crossword problems are considered highly interesting.

Anyway, they're so considered by fans who are addicted to straining their brains over em. Yet they're simple in comparison with economic issues. Furthermore, the crossword game is frivolous. Fates of whole nations and generations depend on good guessing by economic students.

Taxation, for instance, concerning which we're hearing so much right now, is economic almost 100 per cent.

Taxes, as even pretty dumbheaded tax-fixers are aware, can be shoved up so high that they bring in less than they'll yield at lower rates. That is, when they get too darned high, they begin to dry up the sources which the fixers are trying to tap. It's the well-known "law of diminishing returns."

This is so elementary a proposition that the veriest dubs recognize it. What some tolerably old hands at schedule making are only just starting to realize is the fact that revenue raising isn't the only factor in the equation.

Economic sharks like Director Leon Henderson of the government's Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, and Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board have been tugging this idea into the beards of our congressional tax-bill framers of late.

They say they want revenue, yes. But they also want taxes to control buying trends. They want to prevent prices from skyrocketing, inevitably to be followed ultimately by a slump and hard times. They want to tax automobiles, for example, like fury, not for the sake of the revenue they'll get less of that because civilian auto buying will be discouraged by the high tax. It'll be the working of the law of diminishing returns. But discourage-ment of civilian auto buying is just what Leon and Marriner are shooting for. They deliberately want to cut down civilian auto sales, in order that the factories may concentrate on the production of defense supplies and stuff in aid of the democracies.

Control Important

Leon and Marriner think control is at least as important as revenue, maybe more so.

Both are as scared as death of a price bulge.

Miss Harrie Elliott, chief of Leon's consumers' unit, asks for the suppression of merchants' advertising, warning their customers to do all the buying they can right now because, so such advertisers predict, they'll be much more severely stuck before long.

Dr. Carl Parry, one of Marriner's Reserve Board specialists, asks to have installment buying restricted. He urges larger payments and faster and bigger installments—compulsory ones. His thesis is that installment purchasers overdo themselves. Consequently they haven't the money to dig up for Uncle Sam's

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1941)

By The Baltimore Sun

Practically In

WASHINGTON, May 31. CERTAINLY Mr. Roosevelt's speech measured up to the forecast of his secretary, Mr. Early, that after Wednesday morning no one, here or abroad, would have any doubt as to what is the American foreign policy. He did not equivocate or evade. He pledged this country to the defeat of Hitler, and promised to take whatever steps are needed to insure delivery of the goods to Britain.

CONSIDERING the recent utterance (all read and approved in advance by himself) of those three Cabinet members—Hull, Stimson and Knox—the President could hardly have said less. And it is difficult to see how he could have said more. The speech, coupled with the proclamation of an unlimited emergency, practically amounts to a declaration of war. Perhaps the formal declaration by Congress will never be made—or even asked. But we may as well face the facts: we were to a considerable extent in the war before Mr. Roosevelt spoke; we are much farther in now.

THE chances that we will be wholly in—and that before long—undoubtedly have been enhanced. The old phrase "short of war," and so often used by Mr. Roosevelt in the past, was conspicuously absent from this speech. Nor did he breathe again his hope of keeping the nation at peace. On the contrary, the traditional American doctrine, in defense of which we entered the first World War and described by the words "freedom of the seas," was revived as an American principle for which we intend to fight. Until the before-mentioned Cabinet spokesmen went into action a short time ago we seemed to have abandoned that principle altogether.

IT is a doctrine which, under existing circumstances, can hardly be sustained without fighting. That, in defense of it, soon or late, the "incident" that will bring us into the shooting is bound to occur seems almost certain, even though the Germans seek to avoid it. This is a prospect which will be relished by some and will appall others. But, whether they are interventionists, isolationists or "borderline cases," there can be no difference of opinion about the prospect.

OUR full participation now looms larger and closer. It is the next step. Most informed observers believe it inevitably will be taken. Spread out, as it is now disclosed we are, with our "armed forces" ready for use in strategic positions, that the "attack" which the President asserts we will resist with those forces, is merely a matter of time, generally conceded. It is true Mr. Roosevelt did not declare that we will convey our supplies to Britain with the American navy, but when he said that we would take whatever steps are necessary to see that they get there he clearly included conveying, as without that they just will not get there. The British have admitted their inability to protect their cargo ships. If they are to be protected and not sent to the material we are so feverishly producing to the bottom of the sea, we have got to do the protecting.

Whether that is called conveying or patrol, whether it is done by destroyers, battleships, or bombing planes, or aerial scouts, makes little difference. The result will be the same. If the Germans do not attack the method by which we insure delivery of guns, planes, ammunition, (Continued On Next Page) benefit when he hikes their taxes. They also will be in heck's own hole if a slump ensues.

William Green of the A. F. of L. and John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers don't agree on much else, but they do concur in doubting that Leon Henderson and Marriner Eccles can head off inflation.

John declares unequivocally, "There's going to be inflation" and the miners are going to have "their share of it in wages". In the last World war, he relates, "war materials went up; then the stock market; then commodities; wages last of all." This time, he swears, the order's going to be reversed.

"Form of Slavery"

Bill Green isn't so outspoken as to inflation, but he does remark that anti-strike legislation is a "form of slavery" and that the workers won't accept it to defend themselves against Nazi slavery.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard's voice is heard in a protest against market speculation.

"Food prices (with which he's particularly concerned) have advanced somewhat, but stocks haven't. Contrarywise, they've been soggy and slightly declining. Well, from all accounts, while there's a tremendous rush of industrial activity, it isn't correspondingly more profitable; there's labor trouble; much higher taxes are ahead; governmental controls may be a hindrance. And the query persists, "Will the United States enter the war?"

Now, how do economics stack up as a matter of interest, alongside crossword puzzles?

Noted Speakers For Convention

Rev. Virgin Elliott and Mrs. A. J. Holman Are Included On Program

SABBATH SCHOOL WORKERS TO MEET

MRS. A. J. HOLMAN

One of the outstanding young ministers of the Christian denomination, Rev. Virgil Elliott, pastor of the Central Christian church of Pittsburgh, will address the afternoon session of the 103rd convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, which will be held at the First United Presbyterian church, New Castle, Thursday, June 12. Rev. Elliott will also give the address at the evening session.

It will be of interest to Lawrence county Sabbath school workers to know that Rev. Elliott was in Dr. G. E. Bennett's classes at Bethany college, and in addition to being a splendid student was an outstanding athlete. He later graduated from Yale Theological Seminary.

The noon and evening meals at the county convention will be served by the ladies of the convention church under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Sontum, and reservation slips for every Sabbath school in Lawrence county have been sent to the Sunday school superintendents.

Attendance "honor roll" cards have been sent to every Sunday school, and these "honor roll" cards will be displayed at the convention.

In addition to Rev. Elliott, the program participants are: Walter E. Myers, general secretary of Philadelphia; Mrs. A. J. Holman, children's division specialist of Pittsburgh; Dr. A. J. Randles of the United Presbyterian Board of Publication of Pittsburgh; A. R. Pollock, vice president of the State Sabbath School association, and others.

The devotion and song leader will be Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church, and the organist and pianist will be P. D. Taylor, organist and choir leader of the convention church. The chorus choir of the convention church will also furnish some special music at the evening session.

There will be a special room for children's division displays, and also a "campers" room where information and literature will be available on state camps. The publishing houses over the country are forwarding a large amount of Sunday school literature for free distribution, and the literature table will be in charge of Miss Alice Grimes, a teacher in the public schools of the city.

The Young People are also planning a model "Vesper Service" to be held on the church lawn between the afternoon and evening sessions. At the afternoon session awards will be presented to the ladies' adult classes of both city and county, that have the best percentage of attendance, and at the evening session awards will be presented to the men's adult classes of both city and county. At the evening session awards will also be presented to the 12 winners in the "Pre-Easter Advance" increase campaign.

food and other supplies to the British, they may as well abandon their submarine campaign and admit defeat—because, in the end, that cannot be avoided. They almost certainly will be defeated in the end, anyway, but if they fail to break up the protection which Mr. Roosevelt now has pledged they will have acknowledged openly that defeat for them is inescapable.

AND, of course, if they attempt to break up the method by which we try to insure delivery—if they attack, and they are bound to attack—that will mean the loss of American lives and ships. Then the full participation and the formal declaration are certain to follow. Few men capable of fair judgment, whether they favor the President's policy or not, now think there is much chance of escape from this sequence of events. To all intents and purposes, we are in the war now, with the President vested with full war power and our armed forces in "strategic positions" ready to resist any move which can be construed as aggressive, in a large part of the world. Even those who still cling to the hope that we can avoid full entrance agree that the urgency of the defense program has been intensified; that from now on "business as usual" is out.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Every time I write in these columns about the advantages of pasteurized milk, I get letters criticizing me for my stand. And I can always depend on half the correspondents to tell me that pasteurization destroys the Vitamin C content of milk and that without Vitamin C we are subject to such deficiency diseases as scurvy.

Well, I readily admit that if we don't get enough Vitamin C, we will suffer a dietary deficiency that may end up in scurvy. But I must add that anyone who depends on milk, whether raw or pasteurized, for his supply of Vitamin C will certainly suffer from a deficiency of that very necessary element, and that anyone who recommends milk as a primary source of that vitamin needs to learn more about dietetics.

For Vitamin C isn't assured in any milk, raw or pasteurized. For some reason, due probably to the feed the cattle get, some cows give milk that contain it, and others don't. If you want Vitamin C, the anti-scurvy vitamin, you should drink fruit juice or tomato juice.

Yes, pasteurization destroys the Vitamin C in milk—if there is any. At the same time it destroys the organisms that cause diphtheria, typhoid, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, just to name a few of them.

Without Vitamin C, pasteurized milk is the nearly perfect food for humans. But always it needs to be supplemented with the vegetables providing needed quantities of Vitamin C.

In different sections of this globe people drink the milk of various mammals. And we know now that the milk of the cow is nearer human milk in composition than any other.

A baby whale, when he swims to his mother for his meal, gets milk that is fifty percent fat, while in contrast the mare feeds her colt milk only one percent fat. Goats' milk is extremely high in butter fat. But it isn't the amount of fat that determines the suitability of animal milk for humans.

Average cow's milk contains 3.95 percent fat and the average for human milk is 3.86 percent—less than a tenth of one percent difference. This is the reason the human race has picked on the milk of the cow for his most important food. It comes nearer than any other to the food to which the baby's—and the adult's—digestive system is best adapted.

Student Prom At Union High School

King And Queen Of Prom Are Crowned In Impressive Ceremony During Evening

Highlight of the annual spring prom, sponsored by the junior-senior classes at Union high school, Thursday evening, was the crowning of a queen and king of the prom.

In a colorful and impressive ceremony the queen, Miss Jane McGrew, and the king, John Pietrowicz, entered at the rear of the school gymnasium and marched in a procession to the front of the room to be seated on their thrones.

The coronation ceremony came during intermission in the dancing program, and preceded the grand march, in which the queen and king, preceded by leading, Miss McGrew and Mr. Pietrowicz, were presented with gifts from the junior class. A vote was taken in the junior and senior classes a short time ago, and the popular selection was for these two senior students.

Forming a receiving line at the start of the evening were the following: Miss Fern Cloak, general chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Salsbury; Miss Dorothy McGraw; Mr. and Mrs. Jay G. Rudolph; Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Pattison; Don McGraw, Jean Wimer, Lois Ketterer, Elma Robinson, Wayne Carpenter, Esther Davidson and Paul Dougherty.

Decorations for the dance were quite unusual, with the class colors of lavender and white being used cleverly in a false ceiling so designed to resemble a spider web. Clusters of balloons in various parts of the room added to the color and attractiveness.

The decorations were arranged by Thomas Salsbury, faculty advisor, and the following student committee: Vernon Brown, chairman; Jean McClenahan, Sylvia Wolanin, Bill Lowers and Joe Kline.

Stimpson says "we" flinch from cynicism. Who are "we"? Name three people who are flinching—be sides the politicians scared by Lindbergh.

Rose 'Subs' For Davis, Wins Race At Indianapolis

Takes Wheel Of Davis' Car When His Own Auto Forced Out

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGES, AUTOS

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(International News Service Staff Writer)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—Little Mauri Rose, 35 years old and 5 feet 6 inches tall, was the hero of the Indianapolis speedway fans today, but whether he would be recorded as winner or co-winner of yesterday's 500-mile Memorial Day classic was still uncertain.

Rose, an engineer at the Allison Airplane Engine plant in Indianapolis, started as a 40th place driver of a $50,000 Italian Maserati car, but he finished in first place as a refueler driver for Floyd Davis of Springfield, Ill., in a venerable 4-cylinder racer.

This unprecedented situation confused even the official score-keepers, and a ruling as to whether Rose should be recorded as sole winner, or as co-winner with Davis, has not yet been made. For the record crowd of more than 160,000 who witnessed the 29th annual race, however, there was no doubt that Rose was the sole author of the victory.

First, Rose drove his own car until the sparkplugs gave out, after 152 miles. After 177 miles, Davis, who is essentially a dirt track star and was in 14th place at the time, gave Rose his chance to get back in the race as a substitute driver.

Shaw Forced Out
At 300 miles, Rose had pulled up to fourth place. Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, seeking his fourth 500-mile championship, was leading at that point. But in his 380th mile, Shaw blew a tire and cracked up, miraculously escaping unhurt.

Cutting curves in masterful fashion, Rose worked his way to second place at 400 miles, and was a lap ahead of the field at 450 miles. He finished well ahead, with Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., second, and Ted Horn of Paterson, N. J., third.

First prize in the race is $20,000, but with bonuses from auto accessory companies it is worth about $40,000, most of which will go to Lou Moore, builder and owner of the Davis-Rose car. Second money is $10,000 and third $5,000. Shaw had won $3,200 in lap prizes before he cracked up.

The 500-mile average speed for Davis-Rose was 115.1 miles an hour, while Mays averaged 114.8 miles per hour and Horn 113.86. Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles, in fourth place, and Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, in fifth, both bettered 113 miles an hour, and Chet Miller of Indianapolis, in sixth and 7th places, both beat 111 miles per hour.

Before the race could get under way, a $150,000 fire destroyed 30 garages and three racers, including one owned by George Barringer of Houston, Tex., which would have started the race. The fire apparently started when gasoline being drained from a tank became ignited by static electricity or a match.

SIZES OF DIMAGS
Here are the sizes of the three Di-Maggio brothers starring in the majors. Joe stands even 6 feet and weighs 195. Vince is half an inch shorter and 12 pounds lighter. Dom is 5-9 and weighs 160 pounds.

ELDERS TO PLAY WEST PITTSBURG

"Gas House" Gang Will Try Hard To Upset League Leaders In Sunday Battle

West Pittsburg will have the feature attraction in the City baseball league Sunday when the "Gas House" gang will play host to the league leading Elders A. C. team at the West Pittsburg diamond. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Manager Danny DeGenova will start either Tonsetic or Braky on the hill in an effort to upset the fast-traveling Elders who have won six and lost but one this season. The Elders will pitch either Faller or Witherow. Manager O'Leary stated today. The battle will no doubt be a crackerjack from start to finish. The West Pittsburg gave the Indies plenty of a scare on Thursday.

Indies At Moose
The biggest city attraction will be the appearance of the Lawrence Indies, co-league leaders with the Elders, playing the Moose at the popular Marshall Field site. It will be Majocha or Rainey pitted against Johns.

The West Side A. C. will go to Croton for a game, and the Ryantown team will go to Clifton Flats for a game with the Slovaks.

Lawrence Indies Take Close One

Defeat West Pittsburg 1 To 0 In League Game, Morrison And Powell Shine

One of the greatest pitching battles of the 1941 season took place at the Cedar street field on Thursday night as the Lawrence Indies managed to nose out the West Pittsburg "Gas House" gang, 1 to 0. Morrison on the hill for the Indies gave up but two hits, as did Dick Powell. Eddie "Cask" Koszela with a triple scored the only run of the hotly played contest. Mosley had the other indie hit, while Albert Marky and Winters had the only two hits permitted the West Pittsburgers. The win enabled the Indies to keep apace the Elders who defeated the Moose.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Are you all back home safe and sound . . . there will be some that won't make it but we hope that nothing serious happens. A holiday week-end like we are now experiencing is rather difficult. . . . A lot of people were not working Friday and then they come out to work today and then they don't work tomorrow . . . some people just can't stand that great a change in their daily routine . . . but what can they do about it . . . who cares?

Yesterday was the day to plant garden peas . . . some folks had them in early this year on account of the fine weather we have been having. A lot of gardens were planted yesterday . . . from now on things will have to grow . . . if you have a spare plot of ground why not put it in garden . . . all the fresh vegetables that we can grow will be needed this summer . . . the training camps will be feeding more and more of our boys . . . and the strain on our supply will become greater and greater . . . so plant a small garden . . . help take care of any emergency that might arise.

The U. S. O. has but three days to go here in New Castle . . . that is, the leaders of the campaign here would like to have all the money required from this district in and ready to turn over to the national organization by Tuesday night, New Castle, Ellwood City and the rest of Lawrence County have pledged to raise $20,000 . . . This can be done if each and every person in the County would make it a point to give a little . . . it doesn't need to be a great amount . . . a dollar or some like amount . . . You will be doing your bit for National Defense . . . if no one has called on you will you be so kind as to send your contribution to the Johnson Bronze Company or this Desk . . . we will be glad to turn in your name for the roll. We hope that each and every person can find it possible to give something . . . from one cent marks up to larger bills.

How would you like to have a Collie dog? (It looks like a part collie). You may have same by calling the New Castle Refractories, Phone 6020 . . . call as soon as possible . . . this dog has been staying at the office building and the girls in the office think it would make some boy mighty happy.

Trading Narrow In Market Today

Irregularly Lower Trend In Week-End Market, Smallest Saturday Trading In Years

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—An irregularly lower stock market today again was featured by independent strength in aviation shares.
Holiday influences dominated, with many in Wall street away for a three-day week-end. Price changes generally were narrow and trading was extremely light.
Two-hour volume ran around 100,000 shares, smallest Saturday total since August 24, 1940.
Buying in the aviation group continued to reflect the new plane program announced early this week. The rise, fourth in a row, was led by Consolidated Aircraft, which climbed a point to a new 1941 high, Douglas, Glenn L. Martin and United Aircraft each advanced about a half-point.
Several representative issues dropped into new low ground, including Westinghouse Electric, Dome Mines and Consolidated Edison. General Motors equaled its 1941 bottom on a fractional decline.

Allied Chemical tumbled 1 1/2 points on one sale. Union Pacific lost almost a point before meeting support in a generally soft rail section. Rubbers, oils and building shares displayed an easier tone.
Steels were dull and mostly a shade lower. Republic, though, held around Thursday's closings.
Coppers, except American Smelting, were steady. American Telephone and Woolworth also held their ground.
Bonds moved narrowly in listless dealings.

School Blast Laid To Prank
Explosion Does Slight Damage As Authorities Investigate Origin

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—High school authorities today are apparently no nearer the solution of the explosion which occurred in the High School building on Thursday afternoon, May 29.

Although little positive evidence is available it is believed that the blast, which exploded at the rear of the second floor corridor not far from the entrance to the auditorium balcony, was the result of some crude bomb set off by some school boy in jest.

While the noise of the explosion filled the school, the damage resulting was negligible. A few panes of glass in the windows of the second floor on the Short Street side of the building alone were broken.

A thorough police investigation was ordered immediately by the school authorities but no information has been released to clear the mystery.

Don't Lose Sight Of 6 Per Cent Compound Interest Says Babson

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
(Copyright—1941—Publishers Financial Review, Inc.)

BABSON
Sundays and holidays!

When I graduated from college I went to work for a Boston banking house at $6 per week. I was fairly contented until I read a story of how John D. Rockefeller, Sr. got his great wealth. Said he: "When I was working at $6 a week, I learned that if I could save $100, the interest on this amount at 6% would give me as much as I was earning in one week; that when I could save $400, the interest would give me as much as I could earn in a month. I, therefore, devoted all my energy to saving and getting 6% compound interest."

During the last talk that I had with Thomas A. Edison, I asked him he considered his equal as a great inventor. Rising from his couch and shaking his shaggy white head, he replied: "Babson, I guess the world's greatest inventor was the chap who invented 6% compound interest!" My father at Gloucester, Massachusetts, used to say to me: "The wheel of fortune continually revolves. The great majority get on at the top and fall at the bottom; a few have the courage to get on at the bottom and get off at the top; but those who get on the wheel and stay on through prosperity and depression, depending upon 6% compound interest, are sure to be successful."

What Statistics Show
The saving of $1. per year, paid at the beginning of each year, will increase at compound interest to over $150 in forty years. With this simple rule one can quickly figure that saving $1. a week under these conditions will amount to almost $7,800 in forty years. If this dollar is increased to $6 a week, the sum jumps to nearly $50,000! Is there a single reader of this column who cannot save $6 a week?

With these figures staring us in the face, why should we clamor for pensions, bonuses, and Government Social Security? Compound interest treats everyone alike, rich and poor, black and white, young and old. It is one of the basic principles of democracy. Are we not making a great mistake in forgetting compound interest and jumping to false gods of which we never heard ten years ago?

Getting Six Per Cent Interest
Some readers will reply: "Yes, this is all right in theory, but how can we get 6% interest?" It is true that most banks in their savings department pay only from 1% to 2%, while U. S. Government Baby Bonds pay only about 3% and Federal Building and Loan Associations are paying only about 4%. Let me tell you, however, that the soundest corporations in the country have earned an average of over 6% during this entire century. They today are earning very much more than 6% on the price you would need to pay for becoming a part owner in their business. Take this clipping to your local banker and he will give you a list of such companies.

Without doubt, the New York Stock Exchange abused its power and is entitled to much of the severe punishment which it has received. These sins, however, have caused people to forget the blessings of the Stock Exchange and to miss the great opportunities which it often offers. In saying this, I have no thought of quotations; they may go up or they may go down. I have in mind the opportunity which readers have to buy an interest in the buildings, machinery, and business possibilities of certain necessary, growing, and profitable corporations.

Some Simple Rules
In selecting what to buy in order to get 6% compound interest with safety, your banker should first seek safety with a possibility for profits. Net losses can be eliminated only by making certain profits in order to offset certain inevitable losses. This requires wide diversification. Purchase securities of those companies selling under their asset values. This should give you some advantage in case of future anti-capitalistic legislation. Invest in first liens or stock issues not preceded by bonds or embarrassing preferred issues; that is, invest in companies which cannot be "busted" during any post-war depression.

Buy stocks which are more or less "inflation proof" such as certain companies rich in natural resources of oil, salt, sulphur, nickel, timber, etc. I further prefer securities of companies which have dealt for some years with organized labor and would not now be upset by CIO domination. And, of course, invest in growing industries rather than in declining industries.

Have An Investment Program

The safest way of getting 6% compound interest is to have a definite investment program and be willing to pay someone to help you develop it and stick to it. Do not bother about quotations. Visualize the physical plant, the net assets, and the earning power of the company in which you invest and forget stock market quotations. If you owned the whole of a business, these are the only factors which you would consider. You would not care as to what the neighbors would be bidding for your stock.

It, of course, is vitally important for you to watch these factors of plant, net assets, and earning capacity in the large corporation of which you are a stockholder as well as for a little company of your own. This, however, is something which you can do by the reports published in the press and elsewhere. If you will only make up your mind to lay up a certain sum each week, however small, and secure 6% compound interest by observing the above few simple rules, your fortune is assured.

Five hundred and seventy applicants for citizenship were heard this week by the naturalization examiners. The examinations were final and it is estimated that about 200 were held over for various defections in their qualifications.

The county commissioners have finished their list of appointments to the Lawrence County Defense Council. The list will include some twenty or twenty-five names of citizens in the county. Lt. Col. W.

Two opinions were handed down by Judge Charles Matthews, Jr., on Thursday, both cases that had been heard originally by Judge Thomas W. Dickey and appeals taken.

The first is the case of George S. McCurdy and Ida McCurdy against Joseph H. Forney. The plaintiffs sought to show title to a triangular piece of land in the Elm street district and lost in the trial of the case. They appealed and Judge Matthews has upheld the original decision and given judgment to the defendant.

The second is the case of Mike Ninkovitch versus Peter Kardis, operating the Hudson Lunch. Ninkovitch sued for back wages which he claimed were due. A directed verdict for the defendant was rendered and a motion for a new trial made. This motion is refused.
